Corporate Campus

Gain complete insight into resource use and manage department printing and photocopying. Sell food and drinks without cash, twenty four hours a day. Charge for personal copying and printing to recover costs.

Removing Cash

Cash is a hassle. Purchasers need to have it on them to make a purchase. It needs to be collected, counted and banked. This is both time consuming and a security risk. When cash is removed there's no counting or trips to the bank. superVISorNet from Smart Vend can remove cash by providing options to both add value to a user account - similar to depositing money in a bank - or using a predetermined credit limit - like a credit card. Once a users "account" is in credit, the funds can be used to make purchases at Point of Sale terminals, vending machines, copiers and other equipment without using cash.

In the Cafeteria

Providing staff with the ability to purchase goods without cash allows staff to purchase what they want, when they like. This often translates into happier employees who spend more, improving cafeteria profitability.

Point of Sale Systems

Point of Sale systems are great for managing a sales transaction and sometimes managing inventory. They do, however, have some limitations.

- They must be staffed to be used, making purchases outside cafeteria hours difficult
- Cash is commonly required, which means counting, banking and potential loss
- Expenditure usually can't be matched to an employee

Coin Operated Vending Machines

Although they are convenient, coin operated vending machines have limitations.

- The coin mechanism in the machine has to be functioning
- The user has to have the correct coins
- Stock-outs are a real possibility

superVISorNet

superVISorNet from Smart Vend is a highly adaptable, modular, Corporate Campus Transaction Management System. Integrating your POS system with superVISorNet provides accurate sales details by employee. These details can be exported to a financial or payroll system which may allow tax benefits for staff. Other company resources, such as photocopiers and printers can also be integrated into superVISorNet's management capability. This permits the tracking of expenditure by department or user against budgets, as well as providing employees the ability to pay for personal use of company resources.
